GOVERNMENT

The Village of Deerfield recently came in contact with Americaneagle.com to redesign their online existence. The goal of the redesign was to create a site that would expand outreach, provide an improved look and feel, improve customer service and reduce phone calls, and support the local business community. To accomplish these goals Americaneagle.com worked with the village to implement industry-leading tools such as citizens request forms and quick links, making locating information easier for visitors. The site was also equipped with the Americaneagle.com idev® CMS to enable quick and easy updates to the site. Since it's launch, the site's many features have contributed to its success. Indeed, the village is now able to maximize on their online tools and, in turn, reduce overhead costs.
